young lady, to whose hand he aspired, and was received by her brother. His correct conduct, polished manners and instructive conversation earned for him the good opinion of the brother, who was completely taken in by the "couleur locale" which Danby had the great talent of giving to his narrative.

Danby obtained letters of recommendation to the London and the British Banks, and it seems that both banks accepted him on the same day. He chose the British Bank, with the result we all know.

LADIES' LETTER.

From our own Correspondent

Paris, May 28th.

The capital is a house of mourning; leading shops have closed; citizens display sad faces, and ladies appear only in black toiles. All the Church bells are tolling, from the "bourdon" of Notre Dame Cathedral, to the "Savoyard" of the Sacré Coeur; the sky itself is melancholy; the aged Cardinal Archbishop of Paris, Mgr. Richard, has travelled night and day from Rome, to preside at a sad ceremony in his cathedral; the service has been attended by President Faure and the highest officials of the diplomatic world, not forgetting the official presence of the Lord Mayor of London. Within the sacred building were assembled Protestant, Jew, Materialist, and Catholic, united by the common bonds of poignant grief and fraternal sympathy. The members of the noblest families of France were there also, and so were the representatives of the Working Classes; space too was found for the indigent, for they had a large claim to be present and to mourn. And the cause of this funeral service? Not alone to celebrate the obsequies of the charred remains of six unrecognized victims, but those of their co-dead, 113 in number, that their relatives had interred in the family sepulchre.

That holocaust was the work of twenty five minutes on last Tuesday afternoon, when the sun was the brightest and merriest we have experienced this year. It was the first day after the inauguration of the great charity Bazaar by the Papal Nuncio, in the Rue Jean Goujon. The Bazaar comes off every year, and remains open during May and June; it represents the united efforts of some sixteen charitable and religious societies, and by sales on the part of volunteer ladies, and presents of work and the usual fancy fair articles, a sum of 600,000 francs is secured for the relief of the sick and needy Catholic poor. The Patronesses of the united societies represent the highest society in France, who devote their time and fortune to assuage misery in all its forms. The Bazaar Committee having been made a present of a free site of ground, decided to erect a shanty thereon, pending that more could be secured to run up a permanent structure. Hence, why a flimsy shed was built of tarpaulin deal, relying on tar, varnish and a tarpaulin roof to secure shelter. Round the site was an enclosure in the same deal boards. The inside of the building had been prettily fitted up by utilizing some stage scenery illustrative of a Paris street, in the Olden Time, and its curious shops, eccentric sign boards, etc. The scenery was over one hundred yards long, and ran down the whole length of the shed; the shops served as a frame for the stalls where the patronesses presided, and sold wares to their friends and acquaintances. A cinematograph exhibition had been installed; it is a fashionable drawing room entertainment; the animated figures of photographs are thrown on a white screen by means of a special apparatus, utilizing a lamp, and oxygen gas to augment brilliancy. It was now half-past four, the "heure de pèri," and some 1215 persons were in the shanty; the photographing theatre was full of spectators whose merry peals of laughter caused many smiles. It was of short duration; the lamp exploded, and with the rapidity of a rocket, the flames set fire to the screen; the hall itself was soon but a sheet of flame; no use to shout "Fire!" It was everywhere; the flames shot up and down from the roof, from beneath the wooden floor, the sides, and the canvass street of ancient Paris disappeared like fax. There was a life and death rush for the entrance door; the only one opened, the doors folded inward; the weak were soon trampled down and covered with dripping embers, many ladies became petrified through fear, never stirred, and were simply carbonized. Their sufferings were short. Many men at the risk of their lives ran into the flames and dragged out sufferers, one plumber thus saved forty lives, but refused to give his name. The landlady of a neighbouring hotel, who had a single window of a store room overlooking the site, tore off the iron bars, and aided by her cooks, and despite clouds of smoke and sparks, dragged up 150 individuals. Those who made their way into the street were all on fire, nearly naked, till the men with buckets of water extinguished the flames. But what terrible wounds! When the roof crashed in all was finished as the hose of the fire men commenced to play on the smoking debris, bodies, invariably naked, charred, crisped, calcined bones, and blackened skulls, but with such nice and white teeth. In some cases only half a side had been carbonized; sometimes a pair of satin boots and hose were attached to cinder limbs; a gloved hand holding a parasol, the rest of the body being a formless mass of flesh; a skeleton with a gold chain and watch round the neck, calcined units with their bracelets. But why sup on such horrors.

The remains of every victim were placed in a canvass sheet, conveyed to a sally in the Palace of Industry close by, and ranged for relatives to identify; each trinket melted or not, every scorched morsel of dress was carefully placed on the sheet; extreme attention was given to not displace the teeth. These served as the main source of identification. It was thus that the Duchesse d'Alençon's charred remains were ultimately discovered; her dentist produced his books of his operations effected from time to time on her teeth, and these corroborated those in the remains. He even produced the wax cast of a tooth he intended to extract and replace with an artificial one. The poor Duchess was the sister of the Empress of Austria, and her husband was badly burned trying to seek her in the flames he swept past her. Every noble family in France has had to lament a relative in the catastrophe, and dressmakers are working uninterruptedly at mourning toiles. Six ladies are still missing. Perhaps the most touching incident in the tragedy is the case of General Meunier; he set off to expend 3,000 francs in the bazaar; he intended to give his presents as usual to children; he had his arm laden with knick-knacks. A wave of fire enveloped him; he rushed to the entrance door and was dragged all in flames into the street; seeing a large house trough close by full of water, he jumped in and put out the flames. But his wounds were frightful, he who had served in 23 battles in every part of the world, for he was 40 years in the army. Carried home his first question was if his wife had escaped; he never complained of his sufferings. As death came nearer he only asked was his wife saved; about ten minutes before he expired his wife appeared safe, but nerve-wrecked. She placed her arms round his neck, kissed his cold brow; when she was gently raised up the brave General was dead, and the wife insane!

Other, and many, tear-compelling incidents are known. Only one lady escaped without the fire mutilating her lovely features; she was suffocated. She was found dead with her hand pressing her face "mouchoir" against her lips; she was only 19; she displayed no terror on her features; she reclined calmly, eye smilingly in death; she was to be married next month; her fiancé's grief was heart-rending; he would allow no hand to touch the body but his own; he placed her remains himself in the unwinning shell coffin; that done, he opened a "crin," drew forth the wedding ring and its guard, placed them on her finger, covered her features with her lace "fichu," and mechanically followed the hearse, relatives escorting him in tears. May not France as well as Paris, be in mourning?

Quite an avalanche of messages of condolence arrived and still arrive, sympathizing with France. Among the most heart touching beyond doubt is that from Queen Victoria; it has gone right to the heart of the Nation, because its sincerity and pathos are felt; a kind of magnetic sympathy surrounds it like a halo. Then it follows hotfoot upon that other human message thanking the fishermen and fisherwomen of the Ushant Isles, for their affectionate attention to the victims of the Drunken Castle. Nature after all has short cuts to hearts, and the shortest is that of pity. No native of Argentina figures in the list of casualties; but the Spanish colony has been among the foremost and the earliest to express its sorrow and to assure its sympathy to Paris, to France, in presence of the great calamity. A Madame Marcella had a narrow escape, she was said to belong to Rosario, but I find she is a Brazilian. Many Portuguese participate, of course, in the intimate affliction that strikes the Duc d'Alençon.

Of the bright side of Paris life there is none for the moment; of fashions there is but one—the deepest mourning. The Bazaar catastrophe has killed the Paris season, but think of the sixteen charities left penniless for the current year. Extraordinary efforts must be made to secure urgent help, the misery does not terminate with the last expiring ember in the Rue Jean Goujon.

The death of the Duc d'Alençon on his estate at Zuco, near Palermo, in Sicily, has been accelerated by the tragic death of his grand niece, the Duchesse d'Alençon; he was suffering already from heart disease, and only found relief in the orange groves and forests of roses on his estate. He was 77 years of age; he may be said to have lived alone, having lost wife and family—two sons, nearly thirty years ago. He occupied his leisure expending the immense fortune of his wife in the re-creation of the historical chateau of Chantilly—a marvellous depot of pictures, books of priceless value, and objects d'art. All as well as the estate, become now, by his will made eight years ago, the property of the French nation.

NEWS IN THE MEDITERRANEAN.

II.

We passed Malaga in the night. I should have liked to have landed and seen something of the place, which is so much connected by trade and emigration with the Plate. My old and lamented friend, Don Salvador Gomez, one of the greatest of all our Bolsa speculators in 1888, was born there, and his honeymoon trip to Malaga cost him more than most people knew, as he left his money and stocks and floating capital in the hands of Carmine, who failed on the Bolsa during his absence. Madame Gomez, the widow of Don Salvador, née Smith, is living at present in Malaga with her two children, the wreck of Don Salvador's great fortune being still a splendid independence. Don Salvador left her a princely mansion in Calle Callao, and a noble estancia of 20 square leagues near Bahia Blanca, besides other large properties. It is a remarkable fact that since the planting of Eucalyptus trees Malaga has become one of the healthiest spots on the Mediterranean. Some of the finest orange groves in the world are to be seen within easy distance of the town. It was taken by the Moors in 710, and held by them over 700 years. Ferdinand I drove them out after a dreadful siege. History says he broke every pledge to the unfortunate townspeople, and followed up his triumph by confiscations, rape, rapine and "autos de fe." It was again sacked by the French in 1810, and again in 1823, which led to a great emigration to Buenos Aires. On the throne of Isabel in 1868, the Malagueños resisted the Madrid Government, but were subjugated in 1869, and on the abdication of Amadeo in 1873 there was another hapless row. The trade of Malaga is most important, and steadily increasing. They have made a new port, but nothing at all to compare with that of Buenos Aires. The wines of Malaga have a world-wide fame, especially the Muscatel and Mountain, and the celebrated Montilla wines are held in large deposits, and exported with oranges and raisins. The Cathedral, which was once the Moorish Mosque, is an ugly looking concern, and the chief interest Malaga has for tourists is the opportunity afforded for visiting Granada, Cordova, and Seville. There is but one Granada and one Cordoba in the whole world, and I lament my inability to visit those renowned places. Thirty years ago my brother Mr. M. G. Mulhall visited Granada, and in the old files of the STANDARD you will find his graphic description of the palace of the Moors, which has resisted the wreck of time and is still one of the world's wonders. The world has indeed changed since the morning after the expulsion of the Moors. Ferdinand and Isabel hand in hand entered the antechamber of the Hall of the Ambassadors, and then and there erected an oratory, which is still the same to this day. I am told that the descendants of Don Rafael Contreras, the architect of the Alhambra, are now living in Buenos Aires, but I know of no Argentine architect of that name. We certainly have in Buenos Aires many specimens of the matchless Moorish patio architecture, although it is to be regretted the style is rapidly dying out, and more's the pity.

The Christian flag was first hoisted over the Alhambra on January 2nd, 1492, by Cardinal Mendoza, after 777 years of Moorish occupation. President Sarmiento, with true Argentine instinct always claimed to be descended from the Moors, possibly a lineal descendant of Boabdil. The Cathedral of Granada should be visited by every Argentine tourist. On each side of the High Altar kneel carved effigies of Fernando and Isabel, exact representations of their faces, forms and costumes, and behind them are painted carvings, representing the surrender of the Alhambra, and the wholesale conversion and baptism of the Moors by Cardinal Mendoza, after that history-making event. In the centre of the Cathedral are two recumbent figures of the Catholic sovereigns, and on the other side effigies of their daughter "Juana la Loca," mother of Charles V., who died insane after 49 years imprisonment in the Convent of Santa Clara, by order of her own son. There is also an effigy of her handsome, but worthless husband Philip I, who died many years before her, and whose corpse she carried everywhere she travelled. These monuments are the finest that exist in any country, and will repay the most minute examination.

From the deck of our steamer I can count the round watch towers erected by the Spaniards on the cliffs to keep back the Moors, to-day they are used as ranchos for the peasants of the districts. Sic transit, etc. The whole coast is exceedingly picturesque, dotted with little towns and villages. I have no time to give you all their names. Almeria was once a very important place and the rival of Malaga, but its days of glory, like many other places in Spain, are over, and the most important place we pass is Cartagena, a city of 85,000 inhabitants, with a good trade connected with the mining interest. It was founded by the Barclay family of old Carthage, and sprang into great importance when taken by the Romans before the Christian Era. The port is about the largest in Spain after Vigo, and is one of the three arsenals of Spain, the other two being Ferrol and San Fernando. The basins, foundries, building yards, rope walks, etc. are all on a large scale, there is a floating dock capable of taking in the largest ironclads, and just the thing Argentines are trying to construct at Bahia Blanca. Although the bold arid mountains that skirt the Spanish shore of the Mediterranean show no signs of vegetation, the smoke of numerous furnaces reminds us that the country is perhaps the richest in mineral wealth in Europe. Valencia is also a place of good trade and importance, it was founded by the Romans, 140 B.C., taken by the Goths and then captured by the Moors, who were defeated in 1094 by the Cid, after a memorable siege of 28 months. He burnt the Moorish Chief, Ibn Jafar alive in the public place, where is now the fruit market. The town has fine shops, tramways and all that sort of thing, and also numerous manufactories. The "terrones" or "frontales" of the Cathedral are magnificent, they belonged to St. Paul's, London, and were purchased when the decorations of that church were sold by the "Defender of the Faith," Henry VIII. of unpleasant memory. We are in front now of the Balearic Isles, but of these in my next letter. Everyone is packing up on board to land to-morrow at Barcelona.

Yours,
Dr. Syntax.

THE FILIBUSTER S.S. DAUNTLESS.

The notorious filibustering steamer Dauntless, which in reality is only a large ocean-going tugboat, escaped off the coast of Florida from the U.S.S. Marblehead, after a long, hot chase on June 1st.

The Dauntless was lying off New River inlet, loading arms and other munitions of war from the steamer Biscayan, when the smoke of the approaching cruiser was observed. The customs officer who was on board the Biscayan was forced on board the Dauntless by the Cuban patriots who had come off on the first named vessel, which immediately steamed in towards the shore and was captured before the arrival of the Marblehead. The Dauntless took a Northward course, and under a full head of steam for a time showed the cruiser a clean pair of heels. The energetic action of Pres. McKinley's Government would seem to confirm the recent rumors of a change of policy toward Spain as far as the Cuban question is concerned. It is evident that the United States Government is going to use every effort to prevent illegal acts towards Spain within its territory, and in return will undoubtedly demand of Spain a strict observance of treaties in the treatment of citizens of the United States in Cuba.

CROPS IN THE UNITED KINGDOM.

Our English correspondent writes to us under date May 6th:—

Since May came in the weather has greatly improved, and none too soon, as it had been most unseasonable up to the end of April, the rainfall having been excessive, while the temperature was constantly low, though frosts in March and April were fewer and less severe than usual. A worse seed-time for spring corn was hardly ever experienced. Barley and oats were put in a little at a time, as opportunity occurred; but the heavy soils were never dry enough to work well. Consequently most of the grain was sown under unfavorable conditions, and stands a poor chance of growing to a full yield. We need a forcing season of sunshine, warmth, and occasional showers to bring the late crops to full maturity at the proper time. A good deal of the wheat is thin on the ground though it has tilted out well lately. Where it is thick enough it looks fairly well, and may grow into a moderate crop if the rest of the season proves favorable. Feed is still short, as there was hardly any growth during April. A rise in temperature is needed to make the grass and forage crops on arable land grow rapidly. The lambing season is about ended in England, and well on its way in Scotland. The lamb-crop is not a great one; but losses among ewes and lambs have been fewer than usual, and both are healthy as a rule.

PROFESSOR PRESSINGER.

The retirement from active service of this well-known educationist affords us an opportunity for reviewing a career of singular usefulness. Thirty years of educational work qualify Mr. Pressinger to apply for his pension and rest; and as he stands on the threshold of that "blest retirement, friend to life's decline," we join his legion of former pupils, who to-day figure in the higher walks of life, in congratulating him and wishing him health and happiness.

Mr. Pressinger came out to this country in 1865, and together with Dr. Kyle joined the Medical Corps of the Argentine Army under the orders of Dr. C. Molina. Prostrated by malaria, he left the service and returned to B. Ayres. It was then that he attracted the notice of the great Argentine statesman, Dr. Rawson, who, in 1867, sent him to San Juan as Professor of Natural Sciences. He rapidly distinguished himself. He installed the Laboratory and worked so well that the San Juan Government voted him a gold medal. We subsequently find him as Director of the High School for Boys, and later on as member and secretary of the San Juan Committee for the Cordoba Exhibition.

In 1873, Minister (afterwards President) Avellaneda selected him for the task of reorganizing the National College in Mendoza, in which mission he distinguished himself by earning the warm eulogy of Inspector Jose Maria Torres, and attracting the notice of Minister Leguizamon. But Prof. Pressinger grew tired of the Interior, and he returned to B. Ayres. He was at once appointed professor in the Military School. He held classes in other educational establishments. In 1876 he was appointed to a Chair in the National College here. We find him, moreover, teaching at the Normal School for Ladies, at St. Joseph's College, Miss Conway's American School, the Salvador College, and other first class institutions.

While thus engaged in teaching the young idea of Mr. Pressinger found time to produce several important text-books. His grammar, written at the request of the Rector, at that time Dr. Alcora, is generally adopted in public and private establishments.

Mr. Pressinger's connection with the English Literary Society is well known. He was several times chairman of the Committee. His lectures, which embraced historical, philological and scientific subjects, always attracted attention, and were, as a rule, highly flavored with originality and humor.

Loved and esteemed, Professor Pressinger retires from active service, but not from his friends, many of whom have studied under him. His former pupils figure to-day in the foremost ranks, and it must be a great source of satisfaction to him to know that he has thus contributed in no small measure to fashioning the ideas of the most prominent men in the Argentine Republic.

SPORT.

The Blue Riband of the English Turf, the world's Classic, the Derby, famous in history, famous all the world over, was ever a thoroughbred laid hoof to grass, was run off yesterday, and resulted in a brilliant victory for an Irish horse, Mr. Gubbins's Galtee More, by Kendal out of Morganette, who was also winner of the Two Thousand Guineas, and, all going well, should win the Leger, which will put him on a level with Ormonde and Common and other equine heroes of name and fame. Irish horses have been making a great name for themselves in England for a couple of years. Previously it was Ireland's ambition and glory to appropriate the Liverpool Grand National, but having once tasted more appetizing morsels, it wants to class with the best. That Galtee More is a great race-horse there can be no question. As a two-year-old he was already looked upon as a formidable rival of Lord Rosebery's crack Velasquez, and having won the Guineas easily, he started favourite for the Derby. The verdict, as transmitted by cable, reads:—

Mr. Gubbins's Galtee More, Kendal—1
Morganette, by Kendal—2
Lord Rosebery's Velasquez, Donovan—3
Mr. Gubbins's Galtee More, Kendal—4
Mr. Harrison's History, Hampton—5
Mr. Gubbins's Galtee More, Kendal—6
Betting: 100 to 80 v. Galtee More, 7 to 4 v. Velasquez, 16 to 1 v. History.

No details are given as to the running of the race or the distance separating the three at the finish.

The following studs have this year won over 10,000:—

Stud Petite Ecourie..... $24,000
" La Confianza..... 20,400
" Paris..... 19,500
" Prisoniere..... 16,600
" Santa Fé..... 15,900
" Amiano..... 15,700
" Montevideo..... 12,000

The following jockeys have won over five races:—

R. Garrido..... 14
R. Baciotti..... 14
P. Aguilera..... 10
G. Palacios..... 7
I. Diaz..... 7
C. Bustos..... 6

GOLF.

The second competition for the shield trophy of the B. Aires Golf Club will be held at Catalinas on Sunday next under handicap. Members of the club are requested to note that entries for this competition may be made on the ground. The lowest "gross score" made will entitle the player to compete for the Samson gold medal at the end of the season. The links and putting greens at Catalinas are in excellent order, so low scores should be returned if the day be fine.

THEATRES AND AMUSEMENTS.

The Olimpo will re-open very shortly with a very excellent Italian opera and operetta company under the direction of Sr. José Bernini. Amongst the company, which is a very large one, are many artists already well known. The repertoire of the company is very extensive and in addition to many of the lighter kind of operas, such as Cavallera Rusticana, Barbero de Sevilla, Pagliacci and others, includes many favorite operettas, Fra Diavolo, Doña Juavita, Mascota, M. Angot, Crispino e la Comare and many of a similar class.

The production of "Amor y Cautero" by an Argentine author, announced for to-night at the Comedia, is unavoidably postponed as the music is not quite complete. It will be given next week, probably on Tuesday.

At his benefit next Monday Sr. Royo, the manager of the Company, will be assisted by the well-known comedien, Rogelio Juarez.

To-morrow night at this theatre, the popular actor Eduardo Carmona, and the prima donna Srta. Alvarez from the Banda Oriental, will make their first appearance.

Dr. Alfred Berendt, who has already appeared before the Buenos Aires public on more than one occasion, will shortly give a performance in English. The Doctor is quite "au fait" in all the spiritualistic work of Cumberland, Home, Bishop, Slade and others, and not only does he perform all the tricks done by these professors, but he shows "how it is done," which is, perhaps, far more interesting than the tricks themselves. In a few days we shall be able to announce the date of this very interesting performance.

Novelli's benefit, last night, in the Politeama was an immense success, but we must hold over till to-morrow a more detailed account of what took place.

LA PLATA.

(From our own Correspondent)

June 2nd.

The Deputies met to-day. Amongst the "asuntos entrados" was a petition from Messrs. C. Gervasio and Martinez for a narrow gauge railway from Dolores to Balcarce, with a branch to the port of Ajó.

Deputy Mendez moved "that the short-hand report of the sitting of 26th, from which the Radical members withdrew, and at which speeches discreditable to the House were delivered, be sent to the Regulations Committee, to take steps to have all mention of said sitting erased from the records of the House."

Another member proposed that the "actas" of the recent fraudulent elections be sent to Committee to report if they should be approved by the House. This was agreed to.

Deputy Casco's Bill providing that the employees of the Tribunal de Cuentas be named by that Court was sent to Committee.

The President of the House then named its several Committees of Petitions, Finance, Budget, Public Works etc. The Senate will hold a secret sitting to-day to approve the nomination of a new Finance Minister, Directors of the Banks, Chief of Land Office etc.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

If something absolutely rattling and rousing does not turn up soon, inside or outside the Temple of Gammon to smash up the deadly dullness of things in general, half the population will catch that fine old Anglo-Saxon complaint the spleen, and perhaps die of it. There is absolutely nothing lively or funny going on. The performances in Congress are not worth a ten cent "entrada" at present, but will be later on. The B. O. revolution and Cross and Crescent war are played out for the moment. The "raising of the rails" was a miserable disappointment in the way of excitement, after all the talk and threats, and there is nothing on the card till Jubilee Day, which will only be for Britishers and their N.A. cousins. The Gold Eagle, too, has lost all his powers of keeping things moving; he gave a little, feeble squeak yesterday which inspired pity and contempt instead of his screams of yore, which struck more terror into the souls of Bears and guttersnipes than ten thousand moratoriums in the field to-morrow. The news about the negotiations for peace between Greek and Turk report little or no progress. The Garibaldiinos who have returned to Rome say that the Grecian defeats are all due to the cowardice and ignorance of the Greek officers. At the battle of Domokos, they, the redshirts, saved Prince Constantine and his staff from being taken prisoners by the Turks.

To-day the remains of our old and valued friend Don Ricardo O'Shea arrive at La Plata in charge of his brother-in-law, Mr. A. J. Coelho, the popular manager of the Spanish Bank, and the funeral cortege will leave the Casa Amarilla station at 3 p.m. There are but few survivors here now of Don Ricardo's contemporaries of thirty years ago; but, few as they are, they will meet to-day to pay his remains the last tribute of their respect.

Hurrah! "Gibbins and Gubbins" for ever!! as they say in the Country Cork. God save old Ireland! A horse from "the first flower of the earth and first gem of the sea" won the Derby yesterday. See our Sport column.

We read in a German exchange that our old friend Chiarini, Frank Brown's predecessor here many years ago, has at last been gripped by "Pallida Mors." He died in Panama (date not mentioned), aged 74. Like most circus men, Chiarini had travelled over half the habitable globe. He made and lost several fortunes, but has finally left a large one to his widow and daughter. Peace to his ashes.

Our esteemed Swiss colleague Argentinisches Tagblatt has moved into its fine new premises in Calle Maipu No 32, Hochsollen sie leben colleague.

Dr. Gallegos evidently possesses in a marked degree the imaginative instinct so praised by Wenlock Holmes, He jumped to the conclusion that Danby must have gone to New York by the Taatar Prince; but it now turns out that that clipper, rendered famous by Jabez—probably—last sea voyage, took not a single passenger; so that Dr. Alcora has had his trouble for nothing—when he telegraphed to the U. S. authorities to arrest Danby on his arrival in the Northern metropolis. Master Geoffrey has indeed vanished most successfully—for himself—from the ken of the B. Air as police, and it is highly improbable that we shall ever hear of him again.

The death of Mrs. Vare la de Moreno, in Chile, has caused widespread sorrow in Porteno society, in which the lamented lady was universally beloved for her virtues and noble qualities of head and heart. The sad event casts many well-known families here into mourning.

The marriage, in Belg rano on Tuesday of Mr. R. Scott Moncrie and Miss Troutbeck, filled the sacred edifice with friends. The church was beautifully decorated with plants and white flowers. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. R. MacIver, and attended by her sister Miss Nita Troutbeck as bridesmaid, Mr. C. H. Jefferies acting as best man. We wish the happy couple a life-long honeymoon.

Admiral Goñi of the Chilean squadron at Montevideo will be here this morning. He says he could not miss the chance of having a look at the metropolis of all South America.

The Nacion published yesterday a portrait of the now famous Danby, the elevated bank thief that has yet been born in any part of this planet. We don't like the face; he is good-looking after a fashion, but looks oily and sneaky, and is just the cut of the second partner in that world-renowned firm of attorneys, Messrs. Quirk, Gamm and Snap, in that inimitable booby "Ten Thousand a Year."

The power row to-morrow in P. G. Hall for the distribution of the first Federal prizes will be a very grand affair, and a fashionable crowd is expected, as invitations have been sent to leading families of all nationalities.

M. V. T. "loquitur" "An approaching marriage that will interest many of our readers, the charming bride being well-known in English circles, is that of Miss Isabel Tappen to Mr. C. O. Oren.

"The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Coates, of the Central Uruguay Railway, will much regret to hear that Mrs. Coates has been attacked with typhoid fever, and will join us in wishing the lady a safe and speedy recovery.

"We note judicial publication of the intended marriage of Mr. David Hugh Jones, of Aberystwith, to Miss Belinda Wright, of Trannere, both resident in this city. Also that of Mr. Harold K. Haagen-sen, Norwegian, to Miss Maria Allingham of this city."

Here's a novel idea, ladies. Let us see what you think of it: it was tried lately at a ball in England. To us it seems all right for a private ball, but throws too much onus on the ladies to become popular at a public prance, as it gives "ineligibles" too great a chance. "Each lady on entering gave up a bow of the same material as her dress, and every gentleman as he entered the hall selected one of these bows. It was then his duty to find the lady whose dress corresponded with the bow."

Marker! Score any number of points you like for the Pacific Railway, the first in the republic to light its cars by electricity. The others will, of course, be forced to follow suit.

The wonders of science will go on for ever. Telegraphing without wires is the latest. An exchange from the Glasgow says:—"The Post Office authorities are still examining into the practical value of Mr. Maron's apparatus for transmitting signals, electrically, to considerable distances without the intervention of wires. In a former note we described the nature of this invention so far as it is yet made public, and we find there are still sanguine expectations as to its success, and the great advantages it will afford in many special circumstances. The Admiralty, for example, we are told by a metropolitan journal, are much impressed by the advantages it offers for an admiral to call and speak to any ship of his fleet without giving a visible sign to the enemy. There would be no cable to be cut, and interception would be rendered valueless by the use of a secret code. The War Office, too, recognises the advantages of such a system of telegraphy, and is making every effort to be the first to acquire this unsurpassable medium of communication in the face of a foe."

Gilbert the composer is the hero of many a funny story. Here is one:—It is said that when Sir Arthur Sullivan's coadjutor was in America an old lady was introduced to him who, remembering his famous operatic partnership, had posted herself in a number of musical phrases, names, &c. The simple soul had got her knowledge nicely mixed up in her head, and presently asked Mr. Gilbert whether "Mr. Bach" had been composing any new music lately. Gilbert very naturally queried, "Mr. Who, Madam?" To which the old lady made reply, "Mr. Sebastian Bach; has he been composing any new music lately?" A merry twinkle appeared in Gilbert's eye as he answered—"No, Mr. Bach hasn't been composing anything very lately. The fact is, he is decomposing at present."

St. Andrew's Gazette for June maintains the even tenor of its way, and has two—nice pictures—the interior and exterior of the Scotch Church. The following remarks of its London correspondent on the Jubilee are interesting:—"Never before in the history of spectacular events has there been such excitement as is now being displayed amongst certain classes. I am bound to say that there are still a great many sensible people who have not yet caught the affection of 'toadyism'; but those who have are already very numerous. It is estimated that several millions sterling will be spent for accommodation alone. Add to this the cost of the illumination and the flags. One firm announces that it has already 100,000 flags in stock and is adding to that number about 4000 a week. Of the favourite pattern of fairy lamps for festooning buildings it is said that no less than 8,000,000 are already in order, one public building in the city taking 10,000. The set pieces for the West-End and elsewhere will cost, it is said, over £45,000. The firework-makers are expected to sell about £100,000 at least of their wares. The rejoicings in the provinces will run away with a £1,000,000 or so more. And after all, even if we are favoured with the very best of weather—every one knows how uncertain that is—I may venture to predict that the spectacle will be no great sight. The English people have not the genius for such matters, nor do the London streets offer a suitable background. No amount of ingenuity could produce a grandiose and majestic effect in such a thoroughfare as Fleet Street or the Borough High Street. What is wanted is to have a stage to work upon like the Boulevards of Paris, and then to exercise the artistic taste of the French. I saw the last Jubilee procession, and a very dull affair it was. It will hardly be credited that there was not a single band of music and the groups of princes rode along in silence and staidness. In the crowd there was scarcely any cheering, and no one had the pluck to start 'God Save the Queen'. There is a terrible amount of servile 'loyalty' rampant at present. To hear some people talk all the progress which has been made in the last sixty years has been due to Her Most Gracious Majesty, Queen Victoria."

 Gold Premium

FIRST RING..... 196.50
 SECOND RING..... 197.50

Things seem to be getting duller and more dull, so far as gold is concerned, and we are evidently in for a very tame month, as speculators have chucked operating altogether, and the drift of the market is quite imperceptible, looking about as bullish to-day as bearish yesterday. Congress generally takes things very coolly too for the first couple of months. It never, at any season, is in a desperate hurry to tackle economic questions, which are certainly not to its taste, and the market attaches little importance to anything else. Thus the outlook has nothing very breezy about it. If exchange held up, we might look forward to a fall in gold, there being no pressure the other way; but exchange does not look like keeping up, for the reason that there is almost nothing doing in exports. Later on there will be capital to draw against when the Central Station scheme goes through Congress, a business that would certainly in other circumstances have already influenced the market, but there will, in all probability, be no disposition to discount it until the way is perfectly clear. We are not, therefore, free from apprehensions of further specie shipments. We see the exchange market breaking and cracking under the slightest pressure, which, however ably the banks may manoeuvre, is significant, and gold shipments mean an advancing premium. On the other hand the stagnation in commerce is more marked daily, which means meagre requirements and an ease in the strain. Things are, therefore, pretty evenly balanced on the whole, and as there is no pass in gold to give the bulls a basis for leverage, there will be no campaign. Like the armistice of Greeks and Turks under the shadow of classic Thermopylae, the gold market is at a standstill on the banks of the Rubicon.

The inert state of the gold speculation is evidenced by the meagre business doing. At the first hour the total sales barely ran to 650,000 dollars, of which cash and end of month nearly made a clean mouthful; as for later dates there was undoubtedly no interest, clear sign that business is slack, when merchants are not securing gold on time. There was a slight scarcity of cash gold which stiffened rates; the price opened at 296, dropped to 295.50, and then reacting vigorously, rose to close at 296.50. The pass for the end of the month was a bare 30 or 40 cents, and about a point for July. In stocks there was more animation, but hardly a better feeling, as South American Bank Note shares were done at 57, which shows a fall of 3 points on last quotation, and this in a stock well held and rarely allowed to come on the market. Spanish Banks rallied to 117. Some Bolsa shares were done at 170, giving a rise of 5 points, and National G's were firm at 89, a quotation more likely to improve than otherwise, as the issue is a very small one and has been well placed. Municipal 1897 Bonds have, on the other hand, dropped to 76.20. Catalinas were very quiet.

The following is a summary of the business effected at the first ring to-day:—

Mr. Corydon R. Mellor, who has arrived from San Luis, showed us yesterday some sample nuggets from his gold mine in the Cañada Honda in that province. One nugget weighed 611 1/2 grammes and is the biggest nugget we have ever seen in this country; the sample is pure gold. The second nugget, not so pure, weighs 165 1/2 grammes. We understand that both samples will be exhibited for a week in the windows of Messrs. Gath and Chaves in Calle Piedad. The Cañada Honda gold field is a "pertinencia," 6,500 metres long with full width of the cañada and belongs to "Messrs. Randolph and Corydon R. Mellor, who took it over in payment of a debt from the Central Argentine Gold Fields, Ltd. About two leagues distant from the Cañada Honda lies the La Carolina Mine which belongs to the Argentine Concessions, Ltd. The exhibition of these two nuggets of Mo

Corydon Mellor will cause nothing short of a sensation in our mining circles, and will help to strengthen the conviction that we may yet get back to gold payments in this country.

There seems to be something wrong, a screw loose somewhere about the seed distributed to the farmers, as advised from Santa Fe say that the farmers at Maria Juana colony have refused to accept the seed allotted them on the ground that it is not only of inferior quality—but contains 15% turnip seed. This is too bad. The poor colonists have everything at stake in the next harvest, and yet even the money voted by Congress is badly applied. It remains to be seen if there is much more of this going on. Turnip seed! "Risum teneatis".

A big property sale is reported from Mendoza, a vineyard, presumably from the high price paid, $300,000. Mr. B. Corvalan is the seller and Mr. Carlos von da Heyde, buyer. The dimensions and other details have not yet come to hand. We note as another item of news from Mendoza that the Chamber of Deputies has voted $76,890 for construction of hydraulic works on the Alto Tunuyán.

Salto, advises report the Concordia Mines Company short of hands; the manager has applied to the Immigration Office for all the miners it can send up.

At the Board meeting of Liebig's Extract of Meat Company, Limited, on May 7th it was resolved to recommend at the next ordinary general meeting of the Company to be held on the 1st June a distribution of a final dividend for the year 1896 of 15 per cent, of income-tax, making, with the interim dividend of 5 per cent paid on the 15th February last, 20 per cent for the year, against a total dividend of 17 per cent paid last year.

The Report of the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company, for which Messrs R. and J. Carlisle and Company are agents in this country, states that the net fire premiums for the year 1896 amounted to £1,552,835, and the losses to £329,970. After providing for expenses, there is a surplus of £201,934, which has been carried to profit and loss account. In the life department the new assurances amount to £576,360, producing new annual premiums of £17,618, the net total income being £290,326. The reserve fund for the life and annuity engagements, being increased by £147,245, shows a total of £5,007,301. With the addition of interest and the profits of the year, and deducting all payments, the balance of the profit and loss account is £1,141,760, out of which it is proposed to pay on account of the fire department a dividend of 20s per share, with a bonus of 11s per share, and out of the life profits a bonus of 3s per share, making in all 34s per share. After payment of dividend, the general reserve will stand at £1,300,000, the fire re-assurance fund at £740,000, and the profit and loss fund at £332,966.

After two reconstructions and a large reduction in capital, the Consolidated Waterworks Company of Rosario, says The Financial News, seems likely at last to achieve success. For the six months to the end of December the net receipts were sufficient to meet the debenture and Preference interest, and the gross revenue shows a steady increase. The Municipality of Rosario has earned for itself a deservedly bad name, and it is therefore satisfactory to learn that an agreement has been arrived at for the settlement of the question pending between the Municipality and the Rosario City Improvement Company, in consequence of which the drainage system may be expected to be brought into full operation within the next two years.

The Courts were very busy yesterday with the meeting of creditors of various firms. That of Villanueva, Leguicheo was attended by over 100 creditors who went to hear the report presented by the syndic, Mr. Castel, who left the real cause of the failure in the hands of the Judge. The real assets of the firm amount to $51,923 and $184,991 paper, and liabilities $109,614 gold and $91,500 paper. Mr. José María Blanco, of the firm of Blanco, Bastarrica and Company, was named receiver.

The Court of Appeal has revoked the decision of L. Viale, who refused to grant Messrs D. Barthe and Company a moratorium, finding that the reasons brought forward by Dr. Viale were not sufficient, and has granted the moratorium.

We have been favored with a copy of a very complete and exhaustive cable code compiled by W. H. Hawke and entitled "The Premier Cable Telegraphic Code." The Code of course is almost purely commercial, but it is one of the simplest, clearest, and most exhaustive yet published.

Messrs Galloway, Schneider and Co's Manchester market report dated 6th May alludes to the failures here and in the Mount as outcome of check in business and dull market. The circular says: "Various baneful influences have been at work in our market, with the result that the improvement lately noticed has received a check. Firstly, failures of important houses in Montevideo, Buenos Aires and other markets have been announced. Secondly, a very serious fall in Eastern exchange has taken place. Thirdly, offers from India and China have not improved the price, although the cost of production in our market has very much increased. These three causes combined have produced a dull and spiritless market. Cloth prices have altered very little during the week, and manufacturers report that unless demand improves they will in a short time be as badly off as ever. Cotton. Since the month opened demand has not been so brisk in Liverpool and prices have consequently weakened a little. The official quotation stands to-day at 4 7/8d. It is showing a reduction of one thirtysecond on the week. Grey Goods. China has been bringing good 18 Reel Shirtings, but dealers in Bombay and Calcutta are offering prices which they must know cannot be accepted. White Goods. A small miscellaneous trade has been going on, but there has been a total absence of offers for large lines. Prints. Demand from India shows some signs of improvement, but although fair offers have come to hand, it has not been possible to work them. South America is now between seasons, but prospects for the future do not look at all bright.

Messrs Lockwood and Co, who are the agents for the Scottish Union and National Insurance Company, have handed as the following:—The 21st Annual Meeting of the Scottish Union and National Insurance Company was held at Edinburgh on 5th May. The report stated that during 1896, 108,150 new life policies had been issued amounting to £545,200, and yielding in premiums £20,896. The claims by death and by the maturing of policies including large bonus additions amounted to £251,036. The life and annuity funds had been increased by £1,153,141, and now amounted to £3,631,129. The five premiums received amounted to £242,911, and the claims, commission, and other outgoings to £490,700. The surplus of £52,211, together with the sum carried forward and the interest on the shareholders' funds, amounted after writing off sundry sums, to £107,588. Out of this, £28,389 had been carried to the reserves, making them £475,000, and a dividend was declared at the rate of 16 per cent, with bonus of 1 per cent, leaving a balance of £26,098 to be carried to next year's account. The paid-up capital and reserve and other funds belonging to the shareholders amounted to £893,598, and the total funds to £4,672,767. The Report was approved by Mr. W. White Miller, and Mr. James D. Lawrie, directors, who retired by rotation, were re-appointed. Mr. James A. Molleson, C.A., was re-elected auditor.

At the end of this month the well-known firm of Bautista Alchourron and Co. undergoes some changes, the old firm being dissolved to give place to Bautista Alchourron Hnos., in which Messrs. Bautista, Eduardo and Lucio Alchourron will be the partners.

Dr. Galbraith, Criminal Judge of Santa Fé, was welcomed to-day on a brief visit from Rosario, where he reports everything very flat and slack.

The Pacific Packet Galicia's passengers landed to-day. We give the full list in another column.

Business was much livelier in exchange to-day, and there was a fair business doing, taking things on the whole. The rates, however, have not resisted the squeeze, as they show another drop and are close to gold-shifting margin again. We quote—

On London 4 7/8 d.
On Paris 4 9/16 fcs.
On Hamburg 4 0/8 mks.
The banks draw at 4 7/8. The Rio rate is called a little firmer at 7 1/2.
Discounts show no change 5/4 to 6 1/4 gold, and 7 to 7 1/4 paper.

Business in gold at the second hour was again very quiet, the volume of sales running short of 1/4 a million dollars. Still the tendency keeps bullish, and though the price rose from 206 1/2 to 207 1/2 during the hour, subsequently it fell to 207 1/2, sellers, which shows a very pronounced reaction on the day, all the more significant that there is no speculative spring at work. However, there is said to be fair movement in exchange, and this means a demand for gold. The pass for end of month expanded to 50 cents, which is not alarming. For July there was no inquiry. The stock market was also very quiet. Catalinas kept steady at 7 1/4. A small batch of French Banks realized 76 and Spanish Banks were done up to 120, which reflects a very satisfactory recovery. National Cédulas kept very firm at 83 and the 8 1/2 and 8 3/4 series. Municipal 1897 bonds on the other hand weakened off to 75 1/2, which is attributed to the report of the Finance Minister not having handed over the surplus of the percentage of the Contribution Directa and Patente taxes, set apart by law for service of the Municipal Councils, to the Public Credit Office, where-with to hold a special amortization.

SAFETY IN THE TEAPOT

The serious inroads that Dyspepsia has made amongst the community of late years are largely due, the doctors assert, to the indulgence in cheap and inferior teas, in which many harmful elements are contained. Why so many persons should continue to be thus deluded is hard to understand, seeing that there is only the difference of a few cents per pound between the rubbish and the really good teas.

MAZAWATTEE

is the tea that the most eminent Physicians and Professors of Hygiene all cordially unite in certifying to be of the best and purest growth. It is mainly the product of the finest tea producing regions of Ceylon, and contains all the delicacies and beauty of flavor of the delicious Teas of Thirty Years Ago. Mazawattee, indeed, forms in itself a complete answer to all tea-detractors, and those who use it will find that it will mean to them
